A Life Saved.

A FOND MOTHER WAS NIGH TO DEATH.

Swamping Symptoms Shunned.

Frank B. Trout tells a Reporter of How His Daughter's Life Was Saved. All Parents Should Be Interested and Profit by the Narrative.

From the Morning News, Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Robert Lloyd has some very fine peaches on his farm in Oakland county, and he is very proud of them. Last week a reporter for the Morning News called on Mr. Lloyd and was shown around the farm. Mr. Lloyd has a large orchard of peach trees, and they were loaded down with the delicious fruit. The reporter was invited to help himself, and he did so. Mr. Lloyd has a large number of trees, and he has been selling the fruit for some time. He has a ready market for all he can raise, and he has been getting a good price for his crop. He has about 1,000 trees in bearing, and he has a large number of young trees coming on. He has been very successful with his orchard, and has made a good deal of money out of it. He has been in the business for about ten years, and has learned a great deal about it. He says that the secret of his success is in the fact that he has always been careful to select the best varieties of trees, and to keep them well cultivated. He has also been very careful to prune his trees properly, and to keep the ground around them free from weeds. He has found that the best way to prune is to cut off the lower branches, and to leave the upper ones to grow. He says that he has found that the trees bear more and better fruit when they are not crowded. He has also been very careful to keep the ground around the trees free from weeds, and to keep it well cultivated. He says that he has found that the best way to cultivate is to plow the ground in the spring, and then to keep it harrowed during the summer. He has also been very careful to keep the trees well pruned, and to keep the ground around them free from weeds. He says that he has found that the best way to prune is to cut off the lower branches, and to leave the upper ones to grow. He says that he has found that the trees bear more and better fruit when they are not crowded. He has also been very careful to keep the ground around them
